Neerja Bhanot
7 Sept 1963 - 5 Sept 1986

Neerja Bhanot is an icon of brave Indian women. She sacrificed her life while saving hundreds of passengers of hijacked Pan American World Airways flight 73 flying from Mumbai to Frankfurt on 5th September 1986 on the tarmac of Karachi airport in Pakistan.

Neerja was born in Chandigarh and did her early schooling at Sacred Heart School and later in Mumbai at Bombay Scottish School, and St Xaviers College.

Neerja became the youngest recipient of India's highest peacetime Gallantry Award, the Ashoka Chakra. She has been internationally recognised and honoured in USA and Pakistan for her bravery, compassion, and sense of duty.
